

Conservative
Is Opposed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Republicans who serve now with Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., opposed Sunday a conservative or states' right advocate as the next GOP presidential nominee.

Sen. John S. Cooper, R-Ky., said the 1964 Republican nominee should be a strong advocate of federal action to assure civil rights for Negroes. Goldwater's position is that most racial problems should be settled by the states.

UK Threatens
Airline Seizure

LONDON (AP)—The British Aviation Ministry threatened Sunday to seize American airlines landing in Britain if they carry passengers at rates lower than those agreed on by European competitors.

The warning was in a memorandum sent to the two transatlantic American carriers—Pan American and Transworld Airlines—asking whether they had put into effect a five per cent increase on transatlantic economy-class fares or if they plan to do so.

The fare hike, adopted at an international air conference last year, has been in effect in Britain and several other European countries since midnight. But the American carriers, acting under orders of the U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board, have stuck to the old, lower fares.

Two Haiti Exiles
Form New Gov't.

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—Two exiled Haitian political leaders announced Sunday they had formed a Haitian government in exile to oppose the dictatorship of President Francois Duvalier.

They are Louis Delvalle, 68, and Daniel Filmore, 48, both of whom were candidates in the 1967 elections won by Duvalier.

Delegates Seek Peace Money

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—American and British U.N. delegates said Sunday they are hopeful that the General Assembly, in its special session starting Tuesday, will find a way to get the money needed to maintain peace-keeping operations.

Adlai E. Stevenson of the United States and Sir Patrick Dean of Britain expressed their optimism in response to a moderator's question on Stevenson's forthrightly television show, pre-recorded Monday at Stevenson's mission near here.

Stevenson said the United States had carried a disproportionate share amounting to nearly half the costs of the Congo and Middle East operations and was the only country beside Britain to make voluntary contributions for peace-keeping, on top of assessed contributions.

Survives Sea
On Icebox Raft

PERTH, Australia (AP)—Jack Drinan, the skipper of the wrecked prawning trawler Nor 6, reached shore Sunday and told of surviving two weeks at sea on a diet of oranges, raw eggs, and moisture licked from the lid of his makeshift life raft—an icebox.

Drinan, 38, a veteran fisherman from Brisbane, was rescued Saturday by the fishing vessel Sonoma off the lonely, reef-fringed coast of Western Australia near where the Nor 6 ran aground on reefs and sank off Shark Bay, about 500 miles north of Perth.

Negroes March
In Philadelphia

The racial turmoil in Birmingham, Ala., sparked demonstrations in Pennsylvania over the weekend as hundreds of sympathizers turned out to support the Negro desegregation campaign in the southern city.

Some 5,000 Negro church members and 150 of their ministers gathered behind historic Independence Hall in Philadelphia Sunday for a mass prayer rally.

The ministers who addressed the crowd stressed forgiveness for those who mistreated Negroes.

Some 500 pickets marched around Philadelphia City Hall, Saturday carrying signs reading "dogs cannot halt the human crusade." "We want rights, not bites." "We protest dog attacks in Birmingham." and "Alabama shows its strength in jailing tots."

State Department Seeks
Contact With Red Hungary

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department is seeking congressional support for reopening full diplomatic relations with Communist Hungary at an early date.

The basis for the change in U.S. policy toward Hungary, officials said, is provided by relaxation of Communist oppression of the Hungarian people after the 1956 uprising, which was crushed by Soviet troops.

The State Department, it was learned, has circulated an informal memorandum among members of Foreign Affairs Committees of the Senate and House, reviewing developments in Hungarian policy under the Red regime of Premier Janos Kadar during the past seven years.

Can Act On Own

While the State Department could restore full diplomatic relations with Hungary on its own, it naturally would be reluctant to do so if it felt such action would stir up strong protest on Capitol Hill.

"The developments that have taken place are encouraging," the department memorandum says, "for they have substantially improved the situation and prospects of the Hungarian people."

The United States has declined to send a top-ranking diplomat to Budapest since the bloody 1956 fighting which put Kadar in power. However, the memorandum cited various steps by his Soviet-backed regime since that time which in the Kennedy administration's view make it compare favorably with conditions in Hungary during the Stalinist era as well as immediately after the 1956 uprising.

Police terror, purges, rigid

Communist control measures characterized the regime of Matyas Rakosi during the Stalin years and, after Stalin's death, during the period leading up to the revolt.

Memorandum

The memorandum circulated among interested members of Congress a few days ago cited two notable developments of interest to the United States. The first was an amnesty announced by Kadar March 21 and carried out immediately. The State Department memorandum said, "Soviet estimates place the total figure (of persons released from prisons) at between 3,000 and 4,000 of whom a large part were political prisoners."

One of those given freedom under the amnesty, the memorandum said, is Prof. Istvan Bibó, a pre-Kadar Cabinet member and "outstanding intellectual of the 1956 revolution who was sentenced to life imprisonment."

The other major line of development has been the working out by Kadar of "some sort of accommodation" with the Roman Catholic Church. This is permitting churches in Hungary to have more control over their own affairs and "engage in more vigorous religious activity."

One Specific Problem

One specific problem on which recent negotiations have been reported between the Kadar regime and the Vatican has been freedom for Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty. He took refuge in the U.S. Legation at the time of the revolution and has lived there since.

Apart from the amnesty and the effort to improve relations with the church, the Kadar government, the State Department memorandum said, has for two years "followed a conciliatory policy toward the intellectual and cultural community in Hungary."

Exile Statement

In an interview, he said: "Duvalier and the misguided intellectuals in his Cabinet have no idea that by proclaiming Haiti a Socialist country that they are taking the first step in the direction of communism, much in the same manner as Cuba did."

"I don't think Duvalier cares what happens to the country. He knows that if he stays in Haiti, he will become a victim of his own reign of terror and that if he should flee the country—the whole framework of government will crumble."

"No matter what happens—which direction Duvalier takes—it will require extraordinary measures on the part of the United States, the Organization of American States and the United Nations to salvage the remnants of the Haitian government."

Magloire, deposed as president Dec. 12, 1966, said he thought communism had been introduced into Haiti by leftist students and officials who visited Communists in Paris and Cuba.

Red China Raps K's Peace Policy

TOKYO (AP)—President Liu Shao-chi of Red China Sunday rapped Premier Khrushchev's policy of peaceful coexistence and assured Communist North Vietnam of full support in the guerrilla war against the South Vietnamese government.

"Peaceful coexistence must not be used to abolish the Socialist countries' duty of supporting the revolutionary struggles of the oppressed nations and people," Liu told a mass rally in Hanoi, North Vietnam.

Liu is ending a tour of four Southeast Asian countries. He addressed a crowd of 200,000 in the North Vietnamese capital. The New China News Agency carried the text of Liu's speech in a broadcast heard in Tokyo.

Cooper Is Ready For Space Shot

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Leroy Gordon Cooper Jr., a calm man with little to say, checked out his space vehicle Sunday and went to church. Cooper, a little more willing to talk, described him as thoroughly prepared and eager to be away on the nation's most enterprising space flight.

Barring any hitch—and there have been few enough thus far in the preparations—Cooper will fly away Tuesday morning on a flight that will take him 22 times around the world and well into the afternoon hours Wednesday.

Despite the length of his flight, Cooper will have less to say from space than three earlier American orbital fliers.

Astronaut Donald K. (Deke) Slayton, taking part in a news conference with nine new astronauts, said Cooper will make only positive reports during his flight.

"If you don't have something to talk about, why talk," Slayton said.

Astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr. complained after his six-orbit flight last Oct. 3 that there was too much talking.

"People were asking Schirra questions that someone else had asked him five minutes before," Slayton said.

The change should suit well with Cooper, by nature a quiet, almost reticent person.

Slayton said Cooper is "highly trained and competent to fly the flight."

"He's eager and ready to go," Slayton said. "If he weren't we wouldn't let him go."

Elliott See, one of the nine new men being trained to pilot the Gemini and Apollo space capsules, said he was particularly impressed "by Cooper's calmness and preparedness."

Slayton told the conference the Mercury capsule, originally designed for a 24-hour flight, had been redesigned to make the 34-hour flight safely with a 24 per cent safety factor built in.

Lt. Cmdr. John W. Young, a new astronaut whose specialty in the Gemini and Apollo programs will be the environmental control systems, said he had figured out that "if Gordon weighed 300 lbs. and breathed at hard as he could (during a 22-orbit flight), he still would have 24 per cent extra consumables of the kind needed to keep him alive."

While the new astronauts were discussing the flight, Cooper was at nearby Patrick Air Force Base undergoing the final comprehensive physical examination.

He was up at dawn for a jog along the beach at Cape Canaveral, then took part in the beginning of another simulated flight of Faith 7.

Lt. Col. John A. Powers, spokesman for the astronauts, said Cooper remained at the controls of Faith 7 through the countdown and powered portions of the make-believe flight. The simulation—a check-out of the worldwide network that will support Cooper's mission—continued through the day.

Cooper left the Air Force missile test center alone at mid-morning. He arrived at the First Christian Church in nearby Coca Beach in his sports car 10 minutes before services began.

Afterwards, a crowd of about 75 parishioners gathered outside the small, white church as Cooper left, pausing to shake hands with the pastor, the Rev. Alva Sizemore.

Policeman Stabbed; 50 In Hospital

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Thousands of enraged Negroes rioted until daybreak Sunday after bombs had damaged the home of a Negro integration leader and a Negro motel.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., whose brother's home was the one damaged, said later he hoped the violence would not jeopardize a move to bring racial peace.

Nearly 50 persons — some of them policemen and firemen — were hospitalized.

King returned to Birmingham Sunday from his home in Atlanta. Meanwhile, President Kennedy cut short a Mother's Day weekend in Maryland mountains and returned to Washington keep in touch with the racial crisis in Alabama.

King was met at the airport here by Joseph Delan, a representative of the Justice Department.

King said he believes a settlement of racial issues will proceed despite the violence.

"Naturally, it was very shocking and unfortunate that these bombings took place at a time when we were so near a settlement of the problem," he said.

Nearly 50 persons, including some policemen and firemen, were hospitalized after the rioting.

Gov. George Wallace declared that he would stop violence in Birmingham "if it takes 1,000 or 10,000 law enforcement officers or whatever it takes."

He offered a state reward of $5,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of those responsible.

Turning to another aspect of the situation, the governor said that "the violence in the streets of Birmingham by Negroes, which began almost simultaneously with the bombings, was disgraceful." He enumerated several incidents of officers' being hit with rocks; one was stabbed.

Nonviolence

"This is what Martin Luther King calls nonviolence and passive resistance," he added. "We are going to break this up. Such violence will not be tolerated."

Thousands of dollars in damage was caused by the rampaging crowds who set fire to a Negro residential area. Looting of stores was reported.

A policeman was stabbed twice in the back. A white taxi driver was dragged from his vehicle and stabbed. His cab was overturned and set afire.

Large rocks shattered windshields of police and fire vehicles.

Truce Still On

Integration leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. said the truce which had been reached by a bi-racial committee Friday would stand despite the bombings. The truce, which could end most of the city's rigid segregation practices, ended an intensive desegregation campaign led by King.

The suburban home of King's brother, the Rev. A. D. King, was the first target of the bombers. Two blasts shortly after midnight nearly demolished the brick dwelling. King, his wife, and five children were not injured.

Less than 30 minutes later the downtown A. G. Gaston motel, used as headquarters during the six-week integration battle, was shaken by two explosions. Three women were hurt.

Thousands of Negroes gathered at both bombing scenes. They began shelling police and fire vehicles with rocks.

The crowd at King's home dispersed early, but trouble was brewing at the motel four miles away. Thugs at the motel began stoning police. Sheriff's deputies and state troopers rushed to cope with the situation.

Knives Flash

Fires were set at stores and dwellings. A police car and motorcycle were burned. Negroes sped past in cars and hurled rocks at police before the streets were blocked. Knives flashed among the crowd.

Kennedy Alerts Military Forces

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy pledged the federal government Sunday night to preserve order and lives in Birmingham, Ala., and sent troops to bases near the Alabama city for use there if rioting flares again.

Kennedy directed also that preliminary steps be taken to call out the Alabama National Guard if it is needed to cope with the racial outbreaks in the state's biggest city.

Even as Kennedy was speaking in tough language in the White House, informed officials said that troops were moving from outside the state to the Birmingham vicinity.

In the third of three precautionary steps, he ordered federal negotiators back to the troubled city in an effort to save the shaky truce worked out between Negro and white leaders last week.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Secretary of the Army Cyrus R. Vance and the chief of staff of the Army, Gen. Earle Wheeler, sat in on a long White House conference that preceded Kennedy's announcement.

Persons familiar with what went on said Kennedy had not yet ordered the federalizing at the Alabama National Guard but had directed that the necessary proclamation documents be prepared for signing at any time.

Kennedy appealed to the citizens of Birmingham to keep the peace but declared that "this government will do whatever must be done" to preserve law and order.

Kennedy said the truce agreement reached last week by Negro and white leaders in Birmingham is a fair and just accord. He said that "the federal government will not permit it to be sabotaged by a few extremists" on either side.

Kennedy was speaking in a personal statement in the White House "fish room" before reporters and television and radio operators taping his words for relay to the nation.

He said there must be no repetition of Saturday night's bombings and retaliatory rioting. To reinforce this he said he has ordered three initial steps:

1. The dispatch back to Birmingham to Asst. Atty. Gen. Burke Marshall to consult with the citizens there and work with other Justice Department officials on the scene.
2. He has instructed Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara "to alert elements of the armed forces" trained in riot control and their deployment to bases near Birmingham.
3. He has directed taking of the necessary preliminary steps to calling out the Alabama National Guard, if necessary.

Sales, Cigarette Tax Action Near

HARRISBURG (AP) — House minority leader Anthony J. Petrosky, D-Westmoreland, announced Sunday that he will call for public hearings on Gov. Scranton's proposal for $130 million in new tax money.

Petrosky issued the written statement as House Republicans planned for the amending and quick passage of bills to increase both the state sales tax and cigarette tax.

Albert W. Johnson, R-McKean, House majority leader said that Scranton's plan to raise the sales tax from 4 per cent to 4½ per cent would be amended Monday to increase the tax to 5 per cent. The additional one-half cent would allow clothing and shoes to remain exempt, he said.

In addition, the GOP planned to change Scranton's cigarette tax proposal, raising the tax from 6 to 8 cents. The administration had suggested that the levy be increased to 7 cents the first year and 8 cents the second year.

"I have enough votes to run the amendments on Monday," Johnson said, "and I hope to have enough to pass them finally on Tuesday."

Scranton Hits Business Apathy

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP) — Pennsylvania's Gov. William Scranton says business men may have to put a lot of the blame for what he called big government and government interference on their own apathy and unconcern.

He told some 100 major corporation heads that "the government gets into most things because the persons primarily involved didn't bother or weren't concerned."

"A few months ago," he said, "after being elected governor of Pennsylvania, I considered 22 businessmen as possibilities for the Pennsylvania cabinet. I found that 11 of them had not voted in the primary election; eight had not voted in the general election; and five had not voted in the 1960 presidential election."

"It seems to me," he added, "that the American business community in considering the future of the free enterprise system might profitably investigate the political and government awareness of its own members."

Clark Proposes New Parkway

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., urges a study to see whether it would be feasible to extend the proposed Allegheny parkway in West Virginia and Maryland into Pennsylvania.

In a letter to Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall Saturday, Clark said the Pennsylvania turnpike and Interstate 80, both of which cross the Pennsylvania mountains should be linked with the parkway if possible, feeding into it traffic bound for the mountain regions served by the parkway.

He suggested a hook-up with the Pennsylvania turnpike near the Breezewood interchange.

The link could also be extended past the proposed Ruytown reservoir and through Center County, to connect with the Keystone Shortway near Lock Haven, Pa.

Clark said he has heard that the staff of the conference of Appalachian governors has given preliminary approval to the idea of extending the proposed parkway into Pennsylvania.

Water Gap C. of C. To Air Protests On School Budget

DELAWARE WATER GAP — Chamber of Commerce objections to the 1963-1964 Stroud Union School District budget will be aired at an upcoming meeting of the board. The Chamber met May 7.

The Delaware Water Gap chamber said in a statement that Stroud Union, of which Delaware Water Gap is a part, operated the 1961-1962 budget with actual revenues of $1,344,238.10 and actual expenditures of $1,342,006.48.

This was an actual surplus of $1,231.62, even after a $69,748.74 drop in the state reimbursement. The operating deficit of $12,000 for that year upon which a nine-mill increase in taxes was budgeted did not occur.

The chamber then stated that there was a deficit of $71,311.27 carried over from the 1960-1961 budget. This would account for the need, said the chamber, of additional state reimbursement of $72,000 that was included in the 61-62 budget.

Questions Budget
"On this basis," Stephen Matos, Chamber secretary, said, "the Stroud Union School Board should not have raised the budget by more than five mills to cover operational costs and wipe out the 60-61 deficit."

"In other words," he said, "it was shown that the Stroud Union District was overtaxed for the 1962-63 school year and that if the new addition to the high school was not added to this year's budget, a substantial reduction in mills could have been achieved."

Members of the Chamber suggested that the group contact the Regional Park Superintendent, Karl G. Thomson, requesting a date for viewing of the proposed Gap Vista site.

The members of the chamber felt that now would be the best time to view the site of the proposed scenic vista look-out. Rep. Van D. Yetter, who has been close to the project, will also be notified.

Other Reports Heard
Members also reviewed plans for the new post office, which is out on bids.

A report was given on the tourist information center, which will be located just off the ramp that will lead from the edge of the Water Gap bridge to Interstate 80.

The sixth annual Delaware Water Gap Regatta will be run Sunday, May 26, for one day only this year, due to the early date.

The Atlantic Oil Refining Co. of Philadelphia will again provide free gas and oil to the drivers of the boats, and will donate the over-all trophy. Young people of the Methodist Church will handle 30 cent parking.

Preparations are underway for a meeting on the water reservoir.

River Men Prepare For Low Water

MILFORD — The men responsible for the flow of water in the Delaware River are preparing for trouble. They are planning action if drought conditions get worse.

Robert E. Fish of Milford, deputy river master, said yesterday, "There is no immediate shortage, but if it persists, there could be difficulties."

He said it had been a very dry spring, added to a drier than normal 1962.

The Delaware River Master's Advisory Commission will meet May 27 in Milford to study the present situation and plan for a possible drought emergency.

Fish said New York City reservoirs in New York State are lower than they were a year ago at this time. Neversink Reservoir is about 60 per cent of capacity and Pepacton about 47 per cent of capacity. They were at about 80 per cent a year ago, he said.

The present dryness is potential trouble because it is coming on top of a dry 1962 during which rainfall was 79 per cent of the average 43.5 inches per year in the river basin. This "carry over deficiency" adds to this year's dry weather.

By U. S. Supreme Court decree, use of Delaware River water by New York City and communities along the river must not reduce river flow at the Montague, N. J., station below 1,525 cubic feet per second.

Fish said the flow could drop below that by late May if present dry weather continues.

April Bridge Traffic Is Up On Delaware Segment

MORRISVILLE, Pa. — The Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission announced last night that traffic on the Delaware Water Gap and Milford-Montague toll bridges increased for the month of April. Traffic on the Portland-Columbia toll bridge decreased.

During the month of April traffic showed an increase of 9.81 percent while revenue decreased 6.91 percent as compared to the month of April.

The reduction in revenue is attributed to the sale and use of commutation books. The books sell for one dollar and have 90 tickets. This makes the cost of toll two and one-half cents per trip. During the month 182,855 vehicles used the toll bridge to provide a daily average of 6,076 passages. Income for the month totaled $92,532.50, providing a daily average of $2,084.42.

During April traffic on the Milford-Montague Toll Bridge showed an increase of 3.32 percent while revenue decreased 7.33 percent, as compared to the month of April.

During this period 48,269 vehicles used the bridge to provide a daily average of 1,609 passages. Income for the month totaled $8,391.38 providing a daily average of $279.71.

Traffic on the Portland-Columbia bridge showed a decrease of 63 percent, as compared with the previous month, and revenue decreased 7.33 percent as compared to the month of April.

Vehicles using the bridge in April totaled 43,481 to provide a daily average of 1,449 passages. Income for the month totaled $7,160.70 providing a daily average of $238.60.

The average monthly sales for the commutation books for the three bridges are as follows: Portland-Columbia, 1,485; Delaware Water Gap, 192; and Milford-Montague, 1,360.

Extremists Take Over

Segregationists planted bombs and Negroes answered with flashing knives and full scale riot Saturday and Sunday in Birmingham, Alabama.

After moderate businessmen and Negro leaders had arrived at a four-point agreement on the beginning of desegregation in one of the nation's most strictly segregated cities, the extremists took over.

It was a good lesson in American political behavior — when moderate, rational people fail to speak out for legal and decent action, the extremists take control and become the leaders of public action.

The conservative white businessmen who negotiated the agreement with Dr. Martin Luther King, leader of the Negro protest marches, for desegregation of downtown stores within 90 days, remained anonymous last week. Only their leader, Sidney W. Smyer, a lawyer and realtor, declared himself for moderation.

Hundreds of conservative businessmen whose financial interest lies in peace with the Negro majority in Alabama remained silent.

The public stage was left to the police chief of Birmingham, Eugene Connor, who a week ago loosed police dogs against marching Negroes and was quoted as saying with glee, "Look at those niggers run."

On Saturday he urged white citizens of Birmingham to boycott stores which do carry out the integration pledge and he challenged white businessmen to "have backbone enough" to identify themselves.

White businessmen and leaders in the South must take up that challenge, identify themselves, and speak out.

It is the only alternative to a reign of terror in which segregationists like Connor control history in the South, instead of moderates like Smyer.

Without moderate control of extremists on both sides — white and Negro — the Birmingham crisis will explode further and become even more of a black-eye for Uncle Sam.

Community College System

Passage of community college legislation is long overdue in Pennsylvania. It is a must this year. But just the same, it was a wise decision to schedule two days of public hearings on the subject.

Rep. Edwin D. Eshleman (R-Lancaster), chairman of the House Education Committee, put the reason best:

"This is a major piece of legislation dealing with a new phase of education, and we want to be sure we are establishing a sound program."

The establishment of a network of low-cost two-year colleges promises to alleviate many of the college enrollment demands that are building up for the rest of this decade. Still, it doesn't follow that just any system of community colleges will be successful. In fact, without adequate preparation, Pennsylvania could end up with a first-class mess on its hands.

The legislation under study is in line with a number of basic assumptions that have emerged on the subject in recent years. It would provide for a variety of local sponsorship of community colleges under a plan to be prepared by a State agency — the proposed State Council of Higher Education. The financing of the college operations would be split evenly among the State, the local sponsors and the student.

A number of questions need probing: What basic decisions would be made on the local level and what ones on the State level?

Would the new institutions be run like colleges or like upward extensions of the public schools?

Would their admissions policies be liberal or restrictive?

Would graduates of their freshman-sophomore programs be accepted in the junior year of other Pennsylvania institutions?

Do technical programs have a good chance of coexisting in the same community college with the freshman-sophomore work?

It's important that these questions be aired thoroughly. To be sure, the proposed policy-making Council of Higher Education will have a lot to say about them. Still, the form of the enabling legislation will determine to a large degree how effective the council can be in laying down policy for budding community colleges.

Mouths Stopped

David Rockefeller, head of the Chase Manhattan Bank, issued a ringing call the other day for the U. S. business community to get in there and pitch with some good advice to those in charge of Latin American aid programs under the Alliance for Progress.

The Rockefeller call has evoked a rather deafening silence. It's not that business men are unwilling to help, but they are manifestly tired of being kicked around as "experts" when they point out that investors are timid about raising funds in countries where Marxist parties are on the rise.

The case of Chile, where a Marxist election victory is freely predicted, is a particularly interesting one, for here is a temperate zone land with great natural endowments that should be attracting more and more private capital from abroad.

Indeed, Chile has already done very well for itself simply because international copper companies like Anaconda, Kennecott and the French Societe Miniere et Metallurgique de Penarroya are there.

If the Chileans, unlike other peoples in Latin America, have a middle class, it is due to the "foreign exploiters" of a natural resource that would have remained useless in local hands.

The Chilean Marxists, muttering nineteenth century clichés about "imperialism," speak of copper exports as if they had brought nothing to the country. And the international copper companies don't dare argue back, for if they did they would be accused of making self-serving statements or trying to interfere with local elections. Standing mute, they let the case go by default.

But it shouldn't be permitted to go by default. In the first place, the Chilean government does very well by itself from the taxes on copper exports, taking two-thirds and more of the profits on mining operations for its own use.

It would hardly do better if the mines were nationalized, for it would stand to lose more in efficiency than it would gain from total seizure of the product. The disillusioning experience of Pemex, the Mexican national oil monopoly whose payrolls are clogged with adherents of the majority political party, is instructive here.

This is not the main point, however. The real benefits accruing to a country like Chile from the presence of so-called "imperialists" is that foreign companies breed domestic companies, in an ever-widening complex that helps turn a primitive economy into a modern one.

If a "foreign" mining company in Chile wants construction done, it has to enlist the help of companies like Neut Latour or Incevil; if it needs steel, it goes to Cap or Compa; as well as the Chilean branch of Arco; if it wants foundry work, it relies on Fundicion Libertad, Curbad y Metalurgia or Electrometalurgia; if it is in the market for more electric power, it applies to Endesa, which is the national electrical authority; if it requires fuel oil, it must tap Enap, the government oil monopoly.

The "foreigner" thus builds up organizations with reassuring local names, personnel and ownership, which is another way of saying that he helps create an affluent and progressive middle class that differs considerably from the traditional land-owning aristocracy that sends its wealth to Switzerland for safekeeping.

Meanwhile, standards of health and education rise. In Chilean mining communities the infant mortality rate is 35 per thousand births, which, if not marvelous, is better than the 37 per thousand figure for the North American state of Mississippi.

The "foreigner" gives laboratories to local universities, and even helps pay for the installation of an educational TV station at the Catholic University in Valparaiso. He helps establish the first industrial hygiene and safety curriculum at the University of Concepcion.

Local people are sent abroad by the "foreigner" to study in industrial relations, medicine, teaching, management, engineering, smelting and milling — and when they return home to Chile they do not necessarily remain for long on the "foreigners" payroll.

Now, the American companies that mine copper in Chile would be caught dead before claiming in public that they can do more to build a local middle class than any Chilean-owned copper company might do. I had to be put on to this story by an ex-employee of a copper company who now works for the U.S. government in Washington.

He can afford to speak the truth without worrying about whether it would be called self-serving or not.

The Pennsylvania Story

Gay Nineties Revue On Taxes

Harrisburg — The tax struggle Pennsylvania's lawmakers must face up to this week — or miss Governor Scranton's June 1 deadline — undeniably has nearly all the aspects of a gay nineties horse opera.

The plot is there; the deadline for the last minute rescue of the distressed (financial) maiden is at hand — and it's time to blow the bugle.

Will the financial maiden be rescued in time — or won't she?

This week the House of Representatives must pass the tax legislation if Mr. Scranton's financial pots and pans are to be pulled from the fire by the June 1 "deadline."

Next week is too late — for the simple reason that the Legislature will be out of session (out of respect) for the May 21 Primary.

That leaves just one week — the week of May 27 — for the Senate to move on the tax legislation (giving it three separate readings on three separate legislative days) — if, that is — the House moves this week.

The rescue of Pennsylvania's financial dame though has been a thriller-diller (or a soubey-dombey) almost from the day the curtain rose on the first act and Governor Scranton proposed increasing Pennsylvania's sales tax from 4 per cent to 4½ per cent.

Scranton Administration Republicans stalwarts who control the House by a three-member squeeze over and above the 105 required to pass such legislation simply could not find enough brethren to go along with the proposal. The suggestion of upping the levy to 5 per cent with clothing continued among the exempt items drew greater support — only a score or so of the GOP legislative gentry declined to go along at that point.

However as Pennsylvania's taxpayers clamor to pay $200 instead of $400 (the tab under the 5 per cent plan), more and more knights of the legislative square table mounted their steeds to join the growing army of supporters.

It has reached the point over the weeks to where now GOP legislative leaders claim they do indeed have all but one or two of the required 106 votes — one earnest GOPster insisting with glee "we're only half a vote away" (whatever that means) — and that all should be lined up by the time they roll the bill tomorrow (today is the 13th).

(Only the Keystone Cops are missing from this hair-lowering drama that has been unfolding on Capitol Hill.)

Is this legislative horse opera

stuff anything new; is it peculiar only to the incumbent Republican Scranton Administration? Indeed it is not — in fact it's almost a ritual that with amazing regularity has taken place in the past in nearly every session.

It's a tribute though to the sterling, iron-fisted, rock-ribbed, determined, jut-chinned lawmakers who, ignoring the cries of their constituents to "take it easy," pound madly ahead at their back-breaking task — maybe two or three hours one, two or three days a week.

Unquestionably it's exhausting; it's taxing. Will Old Nell be able to crank up her Model-T Diver in time to get it off the railroad tracks by June 1 — or is Pennsylvania's legislative special destined to be derailed at the crossing?

The outcome is certainly worth watching. We personally just can't wait until we will be able to pay $400 for a $400 item (it would find $400) and judging by the clamor of support for the 5 per cent sales tax reportedly overwhelming (administration) legislative leaders from "the field," it looks like we're not alone.

The only sane and sensible advice to be offered Pennsylvania's eager, chomping-at-the-bit taxpayers is to have patience and wait; their time will come in due course.

It may even come by June 11

The Allen-Scott Report

JFK May Meet Tito

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington — Closely guarded overtures are underway for a meeting between President Kennedy and Yugoslav Communist ruler Marshal Tito.

The meeting would be held either in Europe during the President's visit there, late in June, or in Washington when Tito makes a "grand tour" of Latin America in the fall.

These alternatives are now being weighed at the highest level of both governments following a cordial exchange of letters between the President and Tito.

A meeting in Washington was proposed by Secretary Rusk during his recent Belgrade conference with Tito, after the Yugoslav chief made it clear he thought a conference with the President would be useful to both Tito and Rusk's proposal with the suggestion that the President stop over in Yugoslavia during his European trip.

Tito stressed that the President would be "extremely welcome."

Ambassador George Kennan, who enthusiastically favors such a meeting before he quits in July, is strongly urging that the President accept Tito's invitation.

In delivering Tito's invitation to the President, Secretary Rusk recommended instead that Tito be asked to come to Washington following his Mexico City visit with President Adolfo Lopez Mateos in the fall.

A Kennedy-Tito meeting has been under consideration at the White House since April when the State Department learned the Yugoslav ruler would definitely visit Mexico, Brazil, Chile and Venezuela, and was trying to arrange sessions with the heads of five other Latin American countries.

By bringing Tito to Washington, the President would share in tariff concessions granted to non-Communist countries. The withdrawal of this key trade aid, temporarily blocked by the President through a loophole in the law, would drastically cut Yugoslavia's exports to the U.S., currently valued at $10 million annually.

Congress voted to deny "most favored nation" trade rights to Yugoslavia on the ground that Tito's government consistently sides with the Soviet on crucial East-West cold war issues.

Representative Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee, has served notice on the White House he will oppose the move to restore the "favored nation" provision.

Mills' stand is based on the contention that Tito's recent articles clearly indicate he is working closely with the Kremlin despite his public pronouncements of being independent and uncommitted.

Forgotten Bishop — The only U.S. missionary known still to be imprisoned in Red China may soon be freed.

He is Bishop James Edward Walsh of the Maryland Society. On March 18, 1960, he was convicted on trumped-up espionage charges and sentenced to 20 years in prison.

Intelligence has learned from Catholic sources in Hong Kong that Peiping is contemplating releasing the Bishop. According to these sources, the Communists have decided to "deport" him because he is causing them as much embarrassment as Cardinal Mindszenty is the Red regime in Hungary.

Bishop Walsh's defiance of Communist efforts to force him to give up his faith has spread by word of mouth throughout China, and has done more to make the Catholic Church known among the Chinese masses than decades of missionary work.

Foreign Flashes — Red China is again vigorously pushing the farm commune system. Refugees report a large-scale propaganda campaign is underway in a number of cities urging workers to return to the communes on the promise of getting more food.

The commune system, instituted in the late 1950s, never really vanished. It was soft-pedaled in 1961 and 1962 because of drought, agricultural failures and serious food shortages.

Europe's most severe winter in 25 years is being credited with saving European cattle from South African hoof-and-mouth disease which threatened it last year. Dr. Edwin A. Elchhorn, Long Island, N. Y., chief of the United Nations Food & Agricultural Organization (FAO) Animal Health Division, says that since last year the disease situation has greatly improved. Cuban agriculture authorities have asked the UN for aid in eradicating that country's growing hoof-and-mouth disease problem.

President Kennedy will definitely visit the Communist Wall when he visits West Berlin on June 26.

DEAR ABBY: My wife has a parakeet and it's driving me nuts. It pecks holes in the plaster, peels paint off the walls and flies over the table when we are eating. I suppose it's my fault because I'm the one who bought it for her. But, Abby, I bought a cage to go with it, and it's never in the cage. My wife says a bird is SUPPOSED to be free to fly all over or it will get loony. I've seen plenty of parakeets in cages and they didn't look loony to me. In fact, I think OURS is loony. Advice is needed.

DEAR ABBY: Since I enlisted in the Navy two years ago I have had five girl friends. Every time I go home on leave I have to dig up another girl and try to talk her into getting married. She'll say yes before I go, and Dear John two months later. I am 21 years old, stand six feet three, weigh 200 pounds, have blue eyes and dark brown curly hair. I measure 46-32-36. Why do so many girls give me up for someone else?

golia during his European trip. Tito stressed that the President would be "extremely welcome."

Ambassador George Kennan, who enthusiastically favors such a meeting before he quits in July, is strongly urging that the President accept Tito's invitation.

In delivering Tito's invitation to the President, Secretary Rusk recommended instead that Tito be asked to come to Washington following his Mexico City visit with President Adolfo Lopez Mateos in the fall.

A Kennedy-Tito meeting has been under consideration at the White House since April when the State Department learned the Yugoslav ruler would definitely visit Mexico, Brazil, Chile and Venezuela, and was trying to arrange sessions with the heads of five other Latin American countries.

By bringing Tito to Washington, the President would share in tariff concessions granted to non-Communist countries. The withdrawal of this key trade aid, temporarily blocked by the President through a loophole in the law, would drastically cut Yugoslavia's exports to the U.S., currently valued at $10 million annually.

Congress voted to deny "most favored nation" trade rights to Yugoslavia on the ground that Tito's government consistently sides with the Soviet on crucial East-West cold war issues.

Representative Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee, has served notice on the White House he will oppose the move to restore the "favored nation" provision.

Mills' stand is based on the contention that Tito's recent articles clearly indicate he is working closely with the Kremlin despite his public pronouncements of being independent and uncommitted.

Forgotten Bishop — The only U.S. missionary known still to be imprisoned in Red China may soon be freed.

He is Bishop James Edward Walsh of the Maryland Society. On March 18, 1960, he was convicted on trumped-up espionage charges and sentenced to 20 years in prison.

Intelligence has learned from Catholic sources in Hong Kong that Peiping is contemplating releasing the Bishop. According to these sources, the Communists have decided to "deport" him because he is causing them as much embarrassment as Cardinal Mindszenty is the Red regime in Hungary.

Bishop Walsh's defiance of Communist efforts to force him to give up his faith has spread by word of mouth throughout China, and has done more to make the Catholic Church known among the Chinese masses than decades of missionary work.

Shortages in cash or stock are not charged against employees except in instances of abnormal shortages or gross carelessness. Most employees of the Board have worked for 29 years without ever paying any portion of shortages.

Extra help is employed as needed for peak business periods and is paid at the rate of $1.67 per hour for whatever number of hours are worked. These employees do not have civil service status, many being college students who are thus given an opportunity to earn money toward their tuition fees. Before being hired, the rate of pay and terms of employment are explained to them. Anyone accepting this type of employment has no cause for complaint as they are exercising their own free choice in the matter.

It is suggested, in fairness to the Liquor Board and the public, that this letter be printed in your paper for the reason that statements made in the earlier "Sol Katz" letter need correction.

Lower Rail Rate Threat to Coal

WASHINGTON (AP)—A spokesman for independent coal operators said Friday some of these businesses would face disaster if Congress passes a pending bill to halt regulation of minimum rail freight rates.

Robert Holcomb, Pikeville, Ky., president of the National Independent Coal Operators Association, testified at a House Commerce Committee hearing.

If lower rates are given for coal shipments in trainload lots, Holcomb said, then the small coal producer will be unable to compete.

Mrs. Fred Waring Adopts Vietnamese 7-Year-Old

NEW YORK — Mrs. Fred Waring, Shawnee-On-Deleware, has adopted Ho Van Sang, a seven-year-old Vietnamese boy, through the Foster Parents Plan of New York.

She has promised to contribute $15 per month toward the welfare of the child. Letters between child and contributor through this plan are exchanged monthly.

"Adoption" through the plan is financial not legal. Of the $15 monthly, the child receives $8 per month as a cash grant.

The rest is spent on food, clothing, medical care, and schooling.

The Foster Parents Plan is non-profit.

Ho Van Sang has a brother and two sisters. His family lives in Saigon, and his father died of advanced tuberculosis. He is in the second grade, and the help given by Mrs. Waring will help to complete his education.

Clinton L. Sanders, who also heads Perkins Freight Lines of Atlanta, Ga., added that vehicle inspection laws and a uniform vehicle code are other "musts" in cutting down highway deaths.

Sanders said there are practical approaches to solution of the nation's traffic accident ills, adding "only a practical approach and hard work will accomplish the goal of bringing traffic accidents to a minimum."

"And I assure our state and national leaders that the trucking industry will continue in its unremitting effort to achieve safety on the highways," he said.

VOICE OF THE VILLAGE

The other day a satisfied Norge customer triumphantly marched up to our Village counselor and demanded her "reward". She had saved enough Village Value Stamps to get a hair dryer. She confided to us that she "saves stamps at her supermarket and department store but those premiums always seem to go to other members of the family." And since she had discovered and taken advantage of Norge drycleaning, she had decided to reward herself.

TIDY BITS:

The methods people use to carry their laundry and drycleaning to the Village often are quite amusing. We have seen department store boxes, brown paper bags, baskets of every size and shape, suitcases, plastic bags, cardboard boxes, a wagon and even a baby carriage.

A young homemaker, whose country home abounds in colonial charm and authenticity, brought a "houseful" of drapes to the Village during her Spring housecleaning spree. She told us that they were an inexpensive cotton muslin. She was "scared to death to wash them and wanted to give them more gentle treatment so they wouldn't shrink." Her solution was to dryclean them the safe Norge way.

The racks outside our pressing and finishing room were just loaded with household items last week... indicating that Spring cleaning is still in full swing. At the Village you can clean draperies, bedspreads, slip covers, chair covers, blankets, etc., at tremendous savings.

THE WYCKOFF SHOPPER

Far more glamorous than any dress I would have dared select for myself is the one Mardee Albert brought back from New York for my appearance at the Wyckoff-Hadassah Fashion Show which is rapidly approaching. The date (which I hope you have entered in your engagement book) is Wednesday evening, June 19th, at Tamiment-in-the-Poconos.

The last few weeks have found me so busy with dozens of other Wyckoff activities, I hadn't even thought about a dress until Bill Wells mentioned the subject a week or so ago. Then, on Friday, Mardee called me into the fashion department to "see something lovely I found on the market."

It was a glorious thing, I observed as she held it out to me. In my mind I was suddenly concerned with Tamiment, and wondering what size this might be. "It's your size," she assured me, "and if it fits and looks well, it's your Fashion Show dress." I held my breath as I was literally poured into it... and was immensely relieved when everything meant to zip did, and looked fine.

I'm not going to tell you anything else about it, except that this dress is a shade I've always loved but rarely if ever worn, because I feared it might not be right for me. It's a far more romantic dress than I, with my budget restrictions, would ever have permitted myself. Everyone who has seen it is saying, "Too bad there isn't a door on the runway at Tamiment. You could come whirling through — like Loretta Young." (If there were a dozen doors, I wouldn't. With my luck, I'd go twirling right off into space. I'm really not the twirling type.)

Mardee, I think, did marvelously in making her selection, remembering all of my best points and making sure they are accentuated; aware too of my bad points, and seeing that they are cleverly camouflaged. She really did better in my behalf than I myself could ever have done... and if she could do all this for me, she would be equally capable and serious about doing the same for her other customers.

Our Jewelry and Corset departments have done equally well to complete the ensemble. A special bra was required due to the cut of the dress. We had it in stock—a beautiful thing encrusted with lace. Very simple jewels were perfect — and they too were here at Wyckoff's in the exact colors. My worries are over! All I need do now is make an appointment with our Beauty Salon for my hairdo, and be at Tamiment in time for Helen Diamond to give me a Charles of the Ritz makeup. What could be simpler?

And what could be simpler for YOU than to put yourself in the hands of our Wyckoff buyers and beauticians for all the important moments of your life? Let THEM worry... why should you?

Prothonotary And Clerk Of The Courts

(Ed. Note: The Daily Record, with the cooperation of The League of Women Voters of The Stroudsburgs, will publish a short biography of the candidates in the primary election, together with a short statement of their views on various subjects. The series will be completed in the next several days).

DETAILS OF OFFICE

Prothonotary and Clerk of the Courts
Term: four years Salary: Fees
Vote for one

Four questions were asked of the candidates. They are:
1. What particular training and experience have you had that would qualify you for this office?
2. What do you hope you can accomplish during your term of office that would benefit the people of Monroe County?
3. Are you in favor of revision of Pennsylvania State Constitution? Explain.
4. Are you in favor of county planning and zoning for Monroe County? Explain.

REPUBLICAN

Ruth D. Slutter, Henryville, RD 1.

than 40 years before elected prothonotary for clerk of courts.
Occupation: Prothonotary and clerk of courts.

Questions Answered

Question one: "I have held the office of Prothonotary and clerk of courts for more than seven years."

Question two: "Courteous and efficient business procedures established and developed since my election will be continued. Modern equipment and new methods will be introduced whenever they can be used to improve my service and help me to achieve a more profitable operation for the county government and its taxpayers."

Question three: "I believe the people of Pennsylvania are intelligent enough and capable enough to elect their own judges, prothonotaries and justice of the peace and clerk of courts. That to take this power away from the people would lessen the general interest of the population in politics generally. When the people lose interest in their government, that is when dictatorial tactics come into power. I would, however, favor the governor succeeding himself in office. Therefore, I am both against, as well as for, certain proposed changes in the Pennsylvania constitution."

Question four: "I have given very little thought to this question and therefore am in no position to give an answer for or against."

Thomas Douglas, 1541 Spruce St., Stroudsburg.

Age: 47
Education: Grammar school, high school and extension course in law.

Occupation: Carpenter and building contractor.

Questions Answered

Question one: "I have been gainfully employed as an optical machinist and a carpenter. I successfully operated a building contracting business for a period of 12 years. I am now taking a course in foreign languages and I have completed an extension course in law from the Pennsylvania State College."

Question two: "To operate the office of prothonotary as prescribed by the law of the State of Pennsylvania and to serve the people of Monroe County to the best of my ability."

Question three: "I am in favor of the revision of the constitution due to the changing times if the people should be allowed to vote on the revision as to what they want."

Question four: "I feel Monroe County is growing very rapidly and planning and zoning is a must. It must fit the individual surroundings of Monroe County. I feel the people should have a voice in the planning and zoning."

Frank J. Smith, a Democratic candidate for the office, did not return his questionnaire to the League of Women voters of The Stroudsburgs.

Local YMCA Makes Plans For Golden Anniversary

EXTERIOR grounds of YMCA are taking on a new and fresh appearance as plans for improvements in parking and playground area unfold. Present plans call for a new and brighter look on the inside as well. Why all the activity? Well, it is in preparation for the 50th Anniversary celebration next year. The YMCA of Monroe County will complete 50 years of service to this area in July of 1964.

Plans call for marking areas for parking cars in an orderly manner. Entrance and exit lanes will be marked as well as no parking areas to make it easier for Y patrons to drive in and out of all areas. An area will be set aside for parking of bicycles.

An effort is being made to beautify the present bare parking area. Soil is being secured for flower and shrub beds, some of which has been donated by friends. Back of the parking area is a small playground used by the Stay-at-Home Camp during the summer. The plan includes the placing of a chain link fence completely around this area to keep the small youngsters from wandering out into the road.

One section of this fence has been installed and the other will be completed as soon as funds become available.

The interior, which is beginning to show the past years of hard use, will also undergo a face lifting. It is hoped that all will be in readiness for the 50th Anniversary celebration next year. Anyone desiring to learn more about these plans or wanting to help make them a reality may do so by getting in touch with the House Committee Chairman, Mr. Loring Crumner or the Secretary of the YMCA, Pierce Harley.

Heart specialists warn about our inactive youngsters

There's no doubt about it. We pamper our youngsters too much nowadays. They ride when they should walk. They sit when they should be moving. They watch when they should be participating. And all this inactivity is bad for them. Indeed, most leading heart specialists agree that today's inactive youngsters are likely to be candidates later on for diseases of the heart and blood vessels, overweight, and other disorders that feed on an easy going existence.

Julius Boros Wins Colonial

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Julius Boros' steady lower-par 71 brought him his second Colonial National Invitation Golf Tournament in four years Sunday as he staved off Gary Player's closing rush and won the $12,000 first money with 279 for 82 holes.

Player, the little South African who was the only member of golf's big three to threaten seriously, pulled within two strokes of Boros as he turned the first nine in 32—a stroke over the record. But he took a bogey on 15 where he missed a 13-foot putt coming out of the rough while Boros was shooting a birdie and his threat faded.

Player wound up with a 3-under-par 67 for 23 and $6,000 second money.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Sparked by the hitting of Ted Savage, including a tie-breaking eighth-inning home run, Pittsburgh beat St. Louis 4-3 Sunday after the Cards won the first game of the double-header 2-1 on an unearned run in the 12th inning.

Savage clouted the homer, his second of the season, off starter Ray Sadecki with one out in the eighth. His second single of the game ignited a three-run Pirate rally in the sixth that deadlocked the contest.

Until that outburst, Sideki, 0-4, had befooled the Pirates on three singles.

Key Boyer's single to center scored ready Curt Flood with the winning run in the first game. Flood reached first on Bill Mazouzi's fumble on his grounder.

Mets, Cincinnati Split, 3-0, 13-12

NEW YORK (AP)—Chico-Coleman's run-scoring single in the eighth inning snapped a tie and gave the New York Mets a 13-2 second game victory and a split in their seven-hour Sunday doubleheader with Cincinnati. The Reds won the opener 3-0.

Down by a 3-1 margin in the ninth, Stroudsburg rallied for three tallies in the bottom of the final frame to preserve their undefeated status.

Jack Sommers opened the Stroudsburg ninth with his second double of the day. After Doug Price walked, Charlie Eden singled to load the bases. A bad throw to first on Clausen's bunt allowed the first run of the inning to score as the bases remained loaded. A line drive off the bat of Carl Motts was dropped in deep left-center, allowing the tying run to come in. A single by Tom Barrow between short and second brought home the winning tally.

Carl Motts went the distance for the winners, yielding six hits and only one earned run while striking out seven and walking five.

West End won their second straight game as they bashed Reeder's, 12-2, behind an 18-hit attack. The battle was real tight over the first five frames as both clubs struggled to break a 1-1 tie.

The West Enders suddenly exploded in the sixth for six runs and a 7-1 lead which carried them to victory. For good measure, the winners added five more in the ninth to complete the rout.

The Lakers of Saylorburg, meanwhile, continued to find the going rough as they dropped their third straight game, 4-2, to a surprising Bushkill club which won its second in a row.

Saylorburg, which finished second in the league last year, took a 1-0 lead in the top of the fourth, but Bushkill came up with the tying marker in their half of the inning, and then went ahead with the winning marker in the fifth. The Lakers tied it in the eighth, 2-2, but Bushkill re-captured the lead in their half of the same frame, and then added an insurance tally in the last inning.

Now as a full-time performer again, the 24-year-old looks like he's ready to make a run for playing time.

Scranton Bests Warriors, 11-5

EAST STROUDSBURG — A seven-run seventh inning by visiting Scranton here Saturday paved the way for the third defeat of the season for the Warriors of East Stroudsburg State College, 11-5. The overall ESSC record now stands at 9-3.

Bob Butterworth of the Warriors was twirling a three-hitter until the seventh — and riding a 5-3 lead — until the Scranton club started lambasting extra-base hits as if they were going out of style.

Doubles by Bill Grohowski, Joe Roche and Pete Colangelo were sandwiched around a home run by Don Watson. A costly error also was responsible for three unearned runs in the same frame as Scranton took a 10-5 lead for the win.

East Stroudsburg had overcome a 2-0 deficit in the second inning by scoring four runs to gain a lead which was held until the fateful seventh.

Paul Grube singled and Ron Hayes followed with an inside-the-park homer to deep right for the tying markers. Bob Rentschler then singled and stole second and Butterworth drove him in with a single and then scored himself on a three-base error by centerfielder Frank Kost who let the ball roll through his legs on the same play.

That put the count at 4-2 in favor of the Warriors. Scranton narrowed that edge with a tally in the third, but the ESSC club scored singleton in the bottom of the fourth for a 5-3 lead.

But the power-laden Scranton bats finally exploded in the seventh for the verdict.

"Be Dependable"
"You are obliged to be dependable," he told the athletes. "And you have an obligation to have an outstanding character . . . to be loyal to the school and loyal to the town."

He also noted that the students must show initiative and ambition and have good knowledge to be successful in their careers.

"You also have the opportunity to have one of the richest careers a man or woman can ever have," he declared.

He also said, "I don't know of any other game where you have as great an opportunity to be an architect of human nature as in the teaching and coaching field."

Williams cleverly interwove his serious remarks with his typical humor which kept the audience captivated throughout his talk.

Preliminary remarks were made by John Eiler, director of athletics; Dr. LeRoy Koehler, president of the college, and Dr. Frank Silis, director of health and physical education.

In Track Meet

ALLENTOWN — Terry Sandt of Pen Argyl was a double winner to give his team a third-place finish in the Lehigh-Northampton League track and field meet here Saturday.

Bangor placed fourth, only three points behind the Green Knights, while East Stroudsburg was last.

Stroud Union, meanwhile, gained two first places in the Lehigh Valley League meet for a fourth-place finish.

Parkland was the L-N team winner, and Palmyerton won the LV championship.

Breaks Record
Sandt, a senior sensation all season for Pen Argyl in the pole vault, broke the league record by clearing the bar at 12 feet, 10 and one-eighth inches. Strong winds probably prevented him from clearing the 13-foot mark.

Earlier in the season, Terry had cleared the bar at 13 feet, one inch.

However, his record jump broke the previous record of 12 feet, seven inches set by Warren Snyder.

Sandt also won the discus with a throw of 152 feet, five and three-quarter inches which also was a school record.

New Bangor Marks
The Bangor trackmen, meanwhile, broke two school records in the meet. Dave Longcor broke his own previous mark in the broad jump with a leap of 20 feet, six inches. The Slater mile relay team finished second with a 102-14-88.

The order of finish in the L-N meet was: Parkland, Hellertown, Wilson, Boro, Pen Argyl, Bangor, Palisades, Nazareth and East Stroudsburg. In the LV meet it was: Palmyerton, Lehigh, Emmaus, Stroud Union, Slatinton, Northampton, and Whitehall.

May 13 Wheat Deadline For Small Operators

"SMALL-ALLOTMENT" farm operators who want to vote in the May 21 referendum on marketing quotas for the 1964 wheat crop are reminded that May 13 is their sign-up date at the ASCS County Office. A small-allotment farm operator is one who has a wheat allotment of less than 15 acres.

By signing up, such an operator chooses to be an allotment grower in 1964 and — if quotas are approved — he and other growers on his farm become eligible to qualify for price supports, certificates, and payments for diverting wheat acreage to soil-conserving uses. Thus, he becomes eligible to vote on whether the program shall go into effect.

Howard R. Porter, chairman, Pennsylvania ASC State Committee, points out that this advance sign-up as a means of qualifying to vote is specified in the law. "The rule has not been pulled out of a hat by the people who help to administer the program," he said. "A list of eligible producers is needed to provide for an orderly and proper referendum, just as in any other democratic election."

As a program participant, the small-allotment farm producer will be eligible for price support based on national average rates of $2 a bushel for certificated wheat and $1.30 for noncertificated wheat. Certificated wheat will be 80 percent of the normal production of the acreage allotment, but not more than the farm's normal yield times the planted acreage.

As a program participant, also, the small-allotment farm producer with an allotment of 13.5 acres or
